

HARNESSING THE POWER OF FAITH-BASED COMMUNITIES TO ENGAGE CITIZENS AND AUTHORITIES ALIKE: LESSONS FROM OAIC AND TEARFUND'S SOCIAL ACCOUNTABILITY EFFORTS IN AFRICA

WEBINAR

February 28, 2019, 9:00 – 10:30AM EST

Questions from participants

Participants' questions	Recording time stamp
Vicky Maglanque: Are there instances that duty bearers or government officials have an antagonistic relationship with the church/es? How do we deal with that?	Sarah: 0:45:05 Rev. Phyllis: 48'30'' Rev. Nicta: 50'45''
Anna Dupont: To Sarah: How did you go about your projects focusing on participatory budgeting: Did you train communities beforehand so they have the skills to monitor the budget? What did communities do with this knowledge? How open were duty bearers to the people and their assessments of the local budgets?	Sarah: 0:40:15 Phyllis: 0:48:30 Rev. Nicta: 0:50:45
Besinati Mpepo: In World Vision, we are supporting a social accountability approach called Citizen Voice and Action in about 50 countries, a number of which are fragile. What we are hearing practitioners on the ground is that it is very important to work with faith leaders on social accountability in these fragile contexts. Can any of you share your experience of working with the church on social accountability in fragile contexts and what would you say is the main difference in the way they are involved in social accountability in more stable contexts?	Phyllis: 0:48:30 Rev. Nicta: 0:50:45

Participants' questions	Recording time stamp
Lucia Nass: what would you recommend to non-faith based organisations that are interested to reach out to churches with social accountability training and support?	Sarah: 1:01:13
Mercy Niwe: Hi everyone, this is Mercy Leading the WB Faith Initiative. Thanks for the presentations. Did your organizations engage other inter faith-based actors to deliver on the development goals or was this purely a Christian outreach to only members of the church?	Rev. Phyllis: 0:56:45 Rev. Nicta: 0:58:15 Sarah: 0:59:45

Thank you for joining this Webinar!

We hope you enjoyed it.

See you at the next one!

GLOBAL PARTNERSHIP FOR SOCIAL ACCOUNTABILITY
KNOWLEDGE PLATFORM

